

Package Deal: Take all for $3,500 – Two 12-foot Kayaks & Trailer - also sold separately.

Wilderness Systems Pungo 120 (Red): $600

Review

An overall high-quality sit-in kayak that is comfortable, maneuverable, and accessible thanks to a wide-open cockpit. The Pungo 120 delivers the winning combination of glide, stability and maneuverability. It is also one of the most comfortable of the kayaks we tested, making it fun for paddlers of all ages and abilities. With a wide-open cockpit, the Pungo is one of the easier sit-in kayaks to get into and out of. The adjustable seat, back band, and foot pegs enable you to secure just the right fit to ensure you are comfortable out on the water. The Pungo has ample storage capacity with a dry stern hatch, storage space behind the seat, and a bungee cord deck system.

Kestrel 120 R (yellow): $550

Needs back rest cover replaced

Review: The rotomolded version of the Kestrel 120 provides the same quality and performance as the composite model, but at an incredibly affordable price. Featuring a recreational sized cockpit and the Revolution Seating System, the Kestrel 120 roto is a favorite because of its ultra tough construction and confidence building stability.

Yakima RACKandROLL 66 Trailer: $2,750

1. Can be store upright or hung
2. Two kayak racks – padding added to prevent vibrations
3. Two Bike racks
4. Spare tire
5. Heavy duty shock absorbers
6. Has been rewired
7. Easy to move trailer with kayaks and bikes from parking lot to beach
8. Paint flaking

Thank you for posting. Prices are negotiable.

Kris Anderson

612-802-0225

KGTORG@msn.com